Dr. Donald Brown, Director
AHANA Program at Boston College

Dr. Donald Brown has served as the Director of the AHANA Student Programs at Boston College for twenty-two years. An acronym for African-American, Hispanic, Asian and Native Americans, the goal of the office of AHANA Student Programs is to provide an array of support service aimed at assisting in the optimal academic performance, retention, and eventual graduation of AHANA students from Boston College. Prior to his arrival at Boston College, Dr. Brown served as Regional Director of the Massachusetts Department of Youth Services (D.Y.S.) where he was responsible for the care and placement of eight hundred youth adjudicated delinquent. Prior to D.Y.S., Dr. Brown served as Director of Upward Bound Program at the University of Massachusetts—Amherst. Over the years, Dr. Brown has written about and made presentations on retention issues and has received citations for his work at structuring model retention programs.
